

Debt Payoff Analysis

William Martinez — prepared 2026-07-25

Total debt (consolidated USD): $85,951.21
Loans: $45,000.08 (8 open) | Credit Cards: $13,848.96 USD + NIO 992,598.11 (~$27,102.17 @ 36.6243 BCN rate)

Method

Hybrid avalanche (highest interest rate first) with a quick-win sweep up front: near-zero balances get cleared immediately regardless of rate — it costs almost nothing, frees up minimum-payment cash flow right away, and drops open accounts fast. After that, strict avalanche by real/estimated APR.

Italic/orange = estimated from payment & capital data, not a stated bank rate. Green = confirmed by Will directly.

Payoff order

#	Debt	Balance	Balance (USD)	Rate	Notes
Tier 0 — Quick-win sweep (do immediately, in parallel with everything below)
1	BAC Visa CC (USD)	$100.03	$100.03	20.04%	near zero, clear it
2	BAC loan 008781001	$297.70	$297.70	16.2%	lowest-balance loan, frees $112.71/mo minimum
Tier 1 — Top priority: AVANZ (family agreement) + worst-rate NIO credit cards
3	AVANZ loan (wife)	$7,031.67	$7,031.67	~23.3% est.	elevated to Tier 1 by family agreement, not by rate — in progress, continue
4	BAC PriceSmart CC (NIO)	NIO 102,658.88	$2,803.03	45%	smallest of the three BAC NIO balances
5	BAC Visa CC (NIO)	NIO 170,161.18	$4,646.13	45%
6	BAC AMEX Black CC (NIO)	NIO 264,281.86	$7,216.02	45%	largest BAC NIO balance
7	Ficohsa CC (NIO)	NIO 311,917.34	$8,516.68	39%	largest single card balance overall
8	Lafise CC (NIO)	NIO 143,578.85	$3,920.32	35%	lowest rate in this tier, kept last per strict avalanche — considered moving earlier for a quicker win, reverted since it costs more interest overall
Tier 2 — ~18.6–20% band (ordered by rate, confirmed rates take precedence over estimates)
9	Ficohsa loan 2211	$5,983.59	$5,983.59	~20% unclear	confirm with Ficohsa — $4 gap unexplained in capital calc
10	BAC AMEX Black CC (USD)	$4,774.47	$4,774.47	20.04%
11	Ficohsa CC (USD)	$4,616.62	$4,616.62	19.8%
12	Lafise CC (USD)	$4,357.73	$4,357.73	19%
13	Ficohsa loan 0000044006	$15,338.11	$15,338.11	18.62%	confirmed — lower than estimated, drops to bottom of this tier despite being the biggest single loan; frees $565.28/mo minimum when done
Tier 3 — BAC installment loans (rate gap negligible, ordered smallest balance first)
14	BAC loan 007989181	$1,801.44	$1,801.44	16.2%	smallest balance, quick win
15	BAC loan 010255001	$3,414.28	$3,414.28	16.2%

16	BAC loan 011195771	$6,623.61	$6,623.61	16.92%	largest of the three, slightly higher rate too
Tier 4 — Cheapest debt held (minimum payment only, no extra here)
17	BAC car loan (wife)	$4,509.68	$4,509.68	10.5%	lowest confirmed rate of all debts — don't overpay this one

USD column converts NIO balances @ 36.6243 (BCN official rate); USD-denominated debts repeat the same figure.

Key takeaways

- The three BAC NIO credit-card balances (45% APR) are the single worst debt held — worse than AVANZ, worse than any loan.
- Ficohsa (39%) and Lafise (35%) NIO card balances also beat AVANZ's estimated rate.
- AVANZ is elevated to Tier 1 by family agreement, not by rate — Will confirmed it stays top-priority alongside the NIO card balances even though its ~23.3% est. rate is below all three NIO card rates.
- The BAC car loan (10.5%, wife's) is the cheapest debt on the books — minimum payments only, don't send extra cash here while higher-rate debt exists.
- Ficohsa loan 0000044006's confirmed rate (18.62%) came in lower than the earlier estimate (20.3%) — it's the biggest loan balance held ($15,338.11) but the confirmed rate drops it to the bottom of the ~19-20% tier, below all three credit-card USD balances.
- Ficohsa loan 2211's exact rate is unclear (a $4/mo gap between due amount and calculated capital reduction, unexplained) — worth a call to Ficohsa to confirm before treating it as tied with the ~20% cluster.
- BAC PriceSmart CC's residual $0.11 USD balance was bonificable interest, waived after the full USD debt was paid — no longer an action item, dropped from the sweep.
